Proactive Health Reporting to Avoid Hospitalization

Keeping clients healthy is our top priority. That's why we have implemented a unique health reporting system to proactively address emerging health issues. Here's how it works:

- Our caregivers are carefully trained to monitor and detect changes in client health
- Each client's health status is electronically reported at the end of each shift
- A care coordinator assesses health changes and implements escalation pathways as needed
- Client outcomes are reported monthly to the family and care team

This system allows us to seek assistance from a care manager or registered nurse, or place a call to the physician to proactively treat any emerging health issues before they lead to a hospital admission.

Caregiver Training and Thoughtful Client Matching

Our caregivers receive in-depth condition-specific training from IPCed, a nationally renowned caregiver training organization. Each caregiver is trained to specialize in a competency that interests him or her most, including:

- Hospice care
- Alzheimer's and dementia care
- Mental health
- Developmental disabilities
- Conditions such as diabetes, COPD, CHF and cancer

We are then able to match our caregivers to clients who not only need their specific type of care, but who match on a personal level as well.
